

Raymond L. Fink Presents as Part of Bar Association of Erie County Part 36 Receivership Training CLE

November 29, 2022 | PRESS RELEASES

BUFFALO, N.Y. – Raymond L. Fink, Lippes Mathias partner and co-leader of the firm’s financial restructuring & insolvency practice team, served as a speaker during a Bar Association of Erie County Continuing Legal Education training on Part 36 receivership. The program explained the procedures for obtaining the appointment of a receiver in New York State Court, and the receiver’s powers and duties. This program will provide an overview of the types of situations in which a receiver is available and will provide instruction on applying for and obtaining a receiver, and will also discuss the compensation, duties, and powers of a receiver in various contexts.

Ray Fink focuses his practice on representing clients in financial reorganization, restructuring and insolvency matters as well as in litigation matters and financial services. He has represented a variety of clients in these types of matters, including private financial organizations, banking institutions, equity funds, secured creditors, lessors and lessees of equipment and real estate, franchisers and franchisees, health care facilities, agricultural lenders, various business enterprises, as well as business owners involved in internal disputes. With more than three decades of experience, he has represented corporate clients in various stages of development and has earned a reputation for designing creative and effective business strategies. He is also an experienced mediator/arbitrator and a Part 36 certified court receiver.
