

Treaty Trader (E-1) visas for Canadian Chiropractors to work in the U.S.

By Eileen M. Martin

February 22, 2023 | IMMIGRATION

Early in my career, I assisted a Canadian chiropractor to obtain an H-1B work permit. It was a reasonable means for that doctor to gain the limited ability to work for a U.S. employer in the U.S. for three years

In the past few years, I have worked with numerous Canadian chiropractors who have wanted to work in the U.S. I have had the great pleasure of assisting these professionals in obtaining E-1 visas to work for Canadian practices in the U.S. These chiropractors work for themselves, or work for practices owned by other doctors. The requirements are that the practice must be Canadian-owned, with a substantial international trade in services with U.S. clients. The E-1 visa is available to work for clients in the U.S. for 5 years – the longest work visa/permit time available.

This is a great solution for chiropractors and many other professionals who want long-term work permits to work for clients of a Canadian business in the U.S.

For more information on this topic, please contact Eileen Martin (emartin@lippes.com) or a member of the Lippes

Related Team

Eileen M. Martin

Partner | Team Co-
Leader - Immigration
| Team Leader -
Canada-U.S. Cross
Border

Nisha V. Fontaine (Jagtiani)

Partner

Elizabeth M. Klarin

Partner

Andrew M. Wilson

Partner | Chief
Advisory Officer |
Team Co-Leader -
Immigration

Disclaimer: The information in this post is provided for general informational purposes only, and may not reflect the current law in your jurisdiction. No information contained in this post should be construed as legal advice from our firm or the individual author, nor is it intended to be a substitute for legal counsel on any subject matter. No reader of this post should act or refrain from acting on the basis of any information included in, or accessible through, this post without seeking the appropriate legal or other professional advice on the particular facts and circumstances at issue from a lawyer licensed in the recipient's state, country or other appropriate licensing jurisdiction.